

Successful foodservice requires achieving a delicate balance of cost, compliance, and customer satisfaction.

On a single, intuitive dashboard Recipes & Specifications helps develop recipes and scale measurements for plate and servings sizes, determine precise menu pricing based on ingredient costs, and easily access information about the allergens and nutrition of the dishes you create.

Effortlessly build a centralized collection and history of your recipes, with access to nutrient databanks, health and compliance information, and your important notes for each dish.

Recipes and all of their associated information are stored safely in the cloud; easily accessible from anywhere.

What customers say

“With our new system and the information that it delivers, we now only have to analyse the cooked elements of the product and have seen and almost 10 to 20% reduction in our clinical analysis requirements, with corresponding savings in costs.”
